One Stop Giving to Support Your Causes

With the end of the year upon us, requests for donations from worthy causes and nonprofits can become an avalanche. Every day, the mail brings a new flood of envelopes and donation requests. And, the requests don’t just come on paper. Fundraising requests come in email and on social media too.

Does this sound like you? You want to give to many of these organizations but ask yourself, “Why does it have to be so complicated?” “Did I give to them last year? And, if so, how much?” “How much have I given in total this year?” When your gifts are complete, you need to keep track of the thank you letters so you have them at tax time.

Myrna Sameth was sitting at her kitchen table last year when she realized that she’d found a solution. “I keep all my annual requests in my fruit bowl. There are so many worthy causes and I enjoy supporting them but I wanted a better way to keep track of all of my giving.”

With the Community Foundations handy online donor access, fund holders like Myrna can see their fund balance. And, with a few clicks, they can make grants of $100 or more to all of their favorite nonprofits. There’s no need to write checks, use stamps, and sift through paperwork. The Community Foundations’ system connects to resources like Guidestar so you can easily look up a nonprofit’s recent tax returns and financial reports.

Your IRA: Another ‘Account’ for Charitable Giving

Sometimes, there is a better way for you to give. If you don’t need some or all of your IRA distributions, you can support the causes you care most about while helping to avoid adding to your taxable income.

Judith Smith is a longtime trustee, former and current president of the East Fishkill Community Library. She and her husband, Russ, were among the founding donors to the East Fishkill Community Library Founders’ Endowment at the Community Foundations. The fund was established in 2008 as a memorial to Lida “Sally” K. Hahn, a descendant of a founder of the East Fishkill Community Library.

The Smiths continue to give to the fund each year. In recent years, they have given directly from their Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs). “It’s like having a new pot of money for our annual contributions,” says Smith.

If you are 70½ or older, giving directly from your IRA can be a tax smart choice. You can give up to $100,000 each year, and your gifts count toward your annual required minimum
The Impact of Your Generosity

Dear Friends,
Many of us make our annual charitable contributions at year-end. You are in good company – more than one third of charitable gifts made in the United States occur in the last month of the year. For those who itemize their taxes, contributions to us offer a charitable deduction. But most of us do not give for tax purposes alone.

Our contributions are an expression of our compassion. Year-end holidays, with their focus on family and giving thanks, prompt us to consider our role in making the world a better place. Whether you give to one of the wonderful organizations here in the Hudson Valley, to your alma mater, or to a national or international organization, your gifts express your values.

The Community Foundations’ staff enjoys helping people like you be generous. If you want to simplify your giving, are reviewing your estate plan, or you want to direct your retirement distribution to charity, we can help.

Funds at the Community Foundations support causes both local and national. They enhance local arts and culture, support after school programs, and provide disaster relief in hurricane-affected areas.

If your gift is to a charity your family has supported every year, or if you are supporting a cause new to you, we applaud you. You give because you care about the people, the creatures, the communities, and the world that we call home.

If we can help you with your giving, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Make a Gift in a Will or Trust to Continue to Support Your Passion

“Giving assets to the Community Foundations is an easy way for people to plan a permanent charitable legacy to support the groups or causes they care most about.” – Arthur L. Gellert, Esq.

A client recently wondered if there was a way that a favorite charity could continue to receive annual gifts from them forever. Like many donors, they wish to create a meaningful legacy for an organization they have long supported. But they voiced a common concern that a “windfall” gift might be completely spent in a few short years. They want their gift to provide a permanent stream of annual support.

There is simple solution – making a gift in their will or trust to create a fund at the Community Foundations of the Hudson Valley. Their fund will then make annual grants, in the donors’ names, to the charity of their choice for as long as it exists. Should the charity go out of business, the Community Foundations will find a group with a similar mission to receive the annual grants.

Community Foundations’ staff is always available to answer questions about a specific charity, how giving can impact a specific cause or need, or the variety of ways to give such as appreciated securities, retirement distributions and other options.

Myrna Sameth’s donor advised fund at the Community Foundations provides an easy to use system for making contributions. “Having a fund simplifies both my giving and my record-keeping. By logging into their online system, I can look up how much I’ve given to each group. And I only need to keep one charitable tax letter for my accountant - the one for my gift adding to my fund. The Community Foundations staff takes care of writing and sending out the checks in the name of my fund. And donating to my fund online, by check, with stock or retirement distribution is easy too. My fund gives me one stop giving!”
